T&T Chamber urges regional co-operation for business opportunities

The Trinidad and Tobago Chamber of Industry and Commerce has noted the comments made by Mr. Jaishima Leladharsingh, a director of The Trinidad and Tobago Coalition of Services Industries (TTCSI) while speaking at the Guyana Basins Summit in Kingston, Georgetown, in his personal capacity. It is regrettable that this was the approach taken by him at this meeting.

We are of the firm opinion that all private sector organisations throughout the region need to work together to ensure that as a region our businesses grow and prosper. Growth in our regional business opportunities will ultimately redound to stronger economic trade relations. The more regional business opportunities we can retain, means our entire region benefits and is stronger and more resilient.

We do believe that regional businesses need to be given priority for business opportunities in the region over extra regional businesses. We support robust private discussions among the different private sector businesses and governmental organisations with the common objectives of regional growth.
